01 / INVITATION

Present your research

Dear professors, lecturers, researchers, doctoral students, independent researchers, master’s students, students and specialists!

ACADEMIC SCIENCE PUBLISHING invites you to participate in the International Scientific and Practical Conference “Global Science & Practice 2026: New Horizons”, to be held on 27 October 2026.

The conference brings together current research in the exact and natural sciences, technology, medicine, economics, education, the social sciences and the humanities. Particular attention is given to the practical significance of research findings, innovative solutions and new ideas from young scientists.

PARTICIPATION FORMAT

The conference will be held online, without scheduled presentations, in the form of a collection of research articles and abstracts.

01 Electronic proceedings

Conference materials will be published on academscience.com.

02 Indexing

Conference materials will be indexed in Google Scholar, Zenodo and OpenAIRE.

03 Electronic certificate

Authors will receive an electronic certificate with a QR code.

02 / SCIENTIFIC COOPERATION

Conference aim and objectives

AIM

To bring together findings from fundamental and applied research, put scientific advances into practice, present innovative projects and startup ideas, and develop interdisciplinary cooperation.

FUNDAMENTAL RESEARCH

PRACTICAL OUTCOMES

01 Disseminating current research

To present new scientific findings, theoretical approaches and practical developments from different disciplines.

02 Developing links between science and practice

To highlight the practical significance of scientific advances for education, industry, healthcare and society.

03 Expanding interdisciplinary cooperation

To support experience sharing among researchers from different fields and joint scientific approaches to pressing problems.

04 Presenting innovative projects and startups

To share opportunities for commercializing research, practical projects and new technological ideas with the scientific community.

05 Supporting young scientists

To disseminate research findings and initiatives of doctoral students, independent researchers, master’s students and students.

03 / INTERDISCIPLINARY FIELDS

The 10 conference tracks

01 Exact and Natural Sciences
