Invitation to Participate

Dear faculty members, researchers, doctoral candidates, independent researchers, master’s students, undergraduate students and professionals!

ACADEMIC SCIENCE PUBLISHING invites you to participate in the international scientific and practical conference on 16 November 2026.

The conference welcomes papers and extended abstracts addressing pressing issues in science, education and society, their causes, consequences and modern solutions. Submissions from different disciplines are assigned to the relevant section according to the main issue they address.

PARTICIPATION FORMAT

Remote participation. The conference takes the form of electronic proceedings containing research papers and extended abstracts, without scheduled oral presentations.

Purpose and Objectives

PURPOSE

To analyze pressing issues in science, education and society using scientific evidence, identify their underlying causes and disseminate research aimed at practical solutions.

OBJECTIVES

01 Examine the causes and consequences of problems through interdisciplinary research.

02 Strengthen the connection between theoretical research and practical application.

03 Present evidence-based recommendations and solutions to a wider audience.

04 Support the research of early-career scholars.

05 Promote international exchange of scientific experience and research collaboration.

Conference Sections

01-03. Sections and relevant disciplines

01 From Scientific Ideas to Practical Results: Barriers to Applying Research and Ways to Overcome Them

Relevant disciplines: Mathematics, physics, chemistry, biology, biotechnology, materials science, technology, engineering and innovation management.
